PRIVACY POLICY

SafeX

Last updated February 03, 2026

This Privacy Notice for SafeX ('we', 'us', or 'our'), describes how and why we might access, collect, store, use, and/or share ('process') your personal information when you use our services ('Services'), including when you:

- Download and use our mobile application (SafeX), or any other application of ours that links to this Privacy Notice
- Engage with us in other related ways, including any communication you initiate through the app

Questions or concerns? Reading this Privacy Notice will help you understand your privacy rights and choices. We are responsible for making decisions about how your personal information is processed. If you do not agree with our policies and practices, please do not use our Services. If you still have any questions or concerns, please contact us at support@safex.com.

1. What Information Do We Collect?

Personal information you disclose to us

In Short: We collect personal information that you provide to us.

We collect personal information that you voluntarily provide to us when you register on the Services, request or schedule tests, receive results or prescriptions, use pre-written notification templates, contact support, or otherwise interact with the Services.

Personal Information Provided by You. The personal information that we collect depends on the context of your interactions with us and the Services, the choices you make, and the products and features you use. The personal information we collect may include the following:

- names
- email addresses (you provide for notifications or account access)
- usernames
- passwords (securely stored and/or hashed)
- health and medical information you enter or that is provided to us by you or a healthcare provider (for example, test requests, test results, prescriptions)

Sensitive Information

Sensitive Information. When necessary and where permitted by law, and typically with your explicit consent, we process categories of special category data such as health information. We process health information only to the extent necessary to provide the Services (for example, to book tests, deliver results, or manage prescriptions).

All personal information that you provide to us must be true, complete, and accurate, and you must notify us of any changes to such personal information.

Information we may receive from third parties

Information from healthcare providers and service partners. We may receive personal information and health-related data from clinics, laboratories, pharmacies, or other healthcare providers where you have requested services that involve those organisations (for example, booking tests or receiving treatment). We may also work with third-party service providers (for example, cloud hosting, secure messaging or email delivery providers) who process data on our behalf as described in Section 4.

2. How Do We Process Your Information?

In Short: We process your information to provide, improve, and administer our Services, communicate with you, for safety and fraud prevention, and to comply with law.

We process your personal information for a variety of reasons, depending on how you interact with our Services, including:

- To facilitate account creation and authentication and otherwise manage user accounts. We may process your information so you can create and log in to your account, as well as keep your account in working order.

- To deliver and facilitate delivery of services to the user. We may process your information to provide you with the requested service (for example: booking tests, delivering test results, providing prescriptions, and related clinical communications).
- To respond to user inquiries/offer support to users. We may process your information to respond to your inquiries and solve any potential issues you might have with the requested service.
- To send administrative information to you. We may process your information to send you details about our products and services, changes to our terms and policies, and other important information.
- To enable secure communications. We may process information to allow you to send notifications using pre-written, medically accurate templates and to communicate privately with healthcare professionals through the Services (not public user-to-user posting).
- To request feedback. We may process your information when necessary to request feedback and to contact you about your use of our Services.
- To protect our Services. We may process your information as part of our efforts to keep our Services safe and secure, including fraud monitoring and prevention.
- To identify usage trends. We may process information about how you use our Services to better understand how they are being used so we can improve them.
- To save or protect an individual's vital interest. We may process your information when necessary to save or protect an individual's vital interest, such as to prevent harm.
- Schedule and manage test appointments. Used to book, modify, and track medical test appointments and prevent scheduling conflicts.
- Generate, store, and display medical test results and prescriptions. Used to correctly associate medical test results and prescriptions with the appropriate user and present them securely within the app.

3. What Legal Bases Do We Rely on to Process Your Personal Information?

In Short: We only process your personal information when we have a valid legal basis under applicable law, such as your consent, to perform a contract with you, to comply with a legal obligation, to protect vital interests, or where otherwise permitted.

Under UK GDPR and the EU GDPR we must identify the lawful basis for processing personal data. We may rely on one or more of the following lawful bases depending on the processing activity:

- Consent. We may process your personal information if you have given us permission (i.e. consent) to use your personal information for a specific purpose. You can withdraw your consent at any time (see Section 8).
- Performance of a Contract. We may process your personal information when it is necessary to fulfil our contractual obligations to you (for example, to provide the Services you request).

- Legal Obligations. We may process your information where we are required to do so to comply with a legal obligation (for example, responding to lawful requests from law enforcement or regulators).
- Vital Interests. We may process personal information where necessary to protect someone's life or to prevent serious harm.

Special category (sensitive) personal data (health data). For processing special category data, including health information, we will only process such data where we have a valid additional condition under applicable law. This may include:

- your explicit consent to the specific processing; or
- where processing is necessary for the provision of health or social care or the management of health-care systems and services, in accordance with applicable law; or
- where necessary for reasons of public interest in the area of public health, or to protect vital interests where you are physically or legally incapable of giving consent.

Where we rely on consent for processing health data, you can withdraw that consent at any time, but withdrawal will not affect the lawfulness of the processing carried out prior to withdrawal.

4. When and with Whom Do We Share Your Personal Information?

In Short: We may share information in limited situations described in this section and/or with the following categories of recipients.

We may need to share your personal information in the following situations:

- Healthcare providers and service partners. We may share your personal information with clinics, laboratories, pharmacies, or healthcare professionals where necessary to provide clinical services you request (for example, to arrange tests, receive test results, or manage prescriptions). We only share the minimum data necessary for the purpose.
- Service providers. We may share your information with third-party service providers who perform services on our behalf (for example, secure hosting, messaging or email delivery providers, payment processors, or technical support). These providers are contractually required to keep your information secure and only process it on our instructions.
- Legal and regulatory requests. We may disclose your information to comply with legal obligations, to respond to lawful requests by public authorities (including to meet national security or law enforcement requirements), or to exercise or defend legal claims.
- Business Transfers. We may share or transfer your information in connection with, or during negotiations of, any merger, sale of company assets, financing, or acquisition of all or a portion of our business. Where possible, we will require the recipient to use personal information in a manner consistent with this Privacy Notice.

We will not share your health data for marketing or advertising purposes.

5. How Long Do We Keep Your Information?

In Short: We keep your information for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes described in this Privacy Notice, unless a longer retention period is required or permitted by law.

We retain personal information for as long as you have an active account with us and as necessary to provide the Services, comply with legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreements. For example, certain records may be retained for statutory periods required by law (such as clinical or accounting records). When we have no ongoing legitimate business need to process your personal information, we will delete or anonymise it. If deletion is not technically feasible (for example, because your information is stored in backup archives), then we will securely store the information and isolate it from further processing until deletion is possible.

6. How Do We Keep Your Information Safe?

In Short: We aim to protect your personal information through reasonable organisational and technical security measures.

We have implemented appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect the personal information we process. These measures include access controls, encryption in transit and at rest where appropriate, and secure development practices. However, no electronic transmission over the internet or storage technology can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. We cannot promise or guarantee that unauthorised third parties will never be able to defeat our security measures.

7. Do We Collect Information from Minors?

In Short: We do not knowingly collect data from or market to children under 18 years of age.

We do not knowingly collect, solicit data from, or market to children under 18 years of age. By using the Services, you represent that you are at least 18 or that you are the parent or guardian of such a minor and consent to such minor dependent's use of the Services. If we learn that personal information from users less than 18 years of age has been collected, we will deactivate the account and take reasonable measures to promptly delete such data from our records. If you become aware of any data we may have collected from children under age 18, please contact us at support@safex.com.

8. What Are Your Privacy Rights?

In Short: You have rights to access and control your personal information in many jurisdictions.

In some regions, such as the United Kingdom (UK), the European Economic Area (EEA), and Switzerland, you have rights that allow you greater access to and control over your personal information. These rights may include:

- The right to request access to and obtain a copy of your personal information.
- The right to request correction of inaccurate personal information.
- The right to request erasure of your personal information (in certain circumstances).
- The right to request restriction of processing of your personal information (in certain circumstances).
- The right to object to our processing of your personal information (in certain circumstances).

- The right to data portability (in certain circumstances).
- The right to withdraw consent where processing is based on consent.

If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please use the in-app privacy and data controls or contact us at support@safex.com. We will respond in accordance with applicable law.

Complaints to supervisory authorities. If you are located in the United Kingdom and you believe we are unlawfully processing your personal information, you may lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO). For EEA residents, you may contact your local data protection authority. Useful links:

- ICO (UK): Information Commissioner's Office (ICO).

Withdrawing your consent

If we are relying on your consent to process your personal information, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time by using the in-app controls or contacting us at support@safex.com. Withdrawing consent will not affect the lawfulness of processing carried out prior to withdrawal, nor will it affect processing carried out on another lawful basis.

Account Information

If you would at any time like to review or change the information in your account or terminate your account, you can:

- Log in to your account settings in the app and update your user account information, or use the account deletion controls if available.
- Contact us at support@safex.com to request access, correction, export, or deletion.

Upon your request to terminate your account, we will deactivate or delete your account and information from our active databases, subject to any applicable legal obligations to retain specific records (for example medical or accounting records). We may retain limited information to prevent fraud, assist with investigations, enforce our legal terms, or comply with legal obligations.

9. Controls for Do-Not-Track Features

Most web browsers and some mobile operating systems and mobile applications include a Do-Not-Track ('DNT') feature or setting you can activate to signal your privacy preference not to have data about your online browsing activities monitored and collected. At this stage, no uniform technology standard for recognising and implementing DNT signals has been finalised. As such, we do not currently respond to DNT browser signals or any other mechanism that automatically communicates your choice not to be tracked online. Note that this primarily concerns web browsing and may not affect mobile app behaviour.

10. Health Data and User Control

We process health-related information only to provide our services, such as test booking, results delivery, and treatment management. Users may access, update, or request deletion of their personal information at any time through the app controls or by contacting us. Health data is not used for advertising or marketing purposes.

Before any information is shared with a clinic or healthcare provider on your behalf, we will make clear what information will be shared and with whom, and obtain your explicit consent where required by law or by the nature of the data being shared. This is consistent with our product behaviour (see P3: user clearly sees what information will be shared before anything is sent).

11. Do We Make Updates to This Notice?

In Short: Yes, we will update this notice as necessary to stay compliant with relevant laws.

We may update this Privacy Notice from time to time to reflect changes in our practices or legal requirements. The updated version will be indicated by an updated 'Last updated' date at the top of this Privacy Notice. If we make material changes to this Privacy Notice, we may notify you by posting a notice in the app or by sending you a direct notification.

12. How Can You Contact Us About This Notice?

If you have questions or comments about this notice, you may email us at support@safex.com.

13. How Can You Review, Update, or Delete the Data We Collect from You?

You have the right to request access to the personal information we collect about you, details about how it has been processed, to correct inaccuracies, or to request deletion of your personal information. You may also have the right to withdraw your consent to our processing of your personal information. These rights may be limited in some circumstances by applicable law.

How to make a request. To review, update, or delete your personal information, please use the privacy and data controls available in the app or contact us at support@safex.com. We will consider and act upon any request in accordance with applicable data protection laws.
